Mayor Gardner and Candy-Maker Pierson to Fish in Florida-Idaho's Sagacious Delegates-Gabriel Cross and His Narrow Escape from Death.

Two men who were the very antithesis of each other in personal appearance, except that the faces and hands of both were deeply bronzed by exposure to the sun, stood chatting together in the rotunda of Willard's last night, One was of herculean build and with an aldermanic allowance of stomach. A full, brown beard, slightly tinged with gray, fell far below his chest, and a wide-brimmed slouch hat almost entirely conceated the upper part of his pleasant countenance. It was Major

George W. Gardner of Cleveland, Ohio. The other was below the middle eight, of slight but wiry build. He had an iron-gray mustache and a keen, sharp expression on his face. His name is H. B. Pierson, and he is responsible for much of the annoyance suffered by raliroad travelers and visitors to the circus, for he makes a specialty of manufacturing confection. ory especially for candy butchers and train boys. He has a large establish-ment at Binghampton, N. Y., and has accumulated a fortupe out of the seductive peppermint lozenge and the rock-ribbed popcorn ball. Both he and Mayor Gardner are on their way home from a tarpon fishing excursion in Florida, and tell wonderful stories of their encounters with these finny mon-

He is W. R. Wildman. editor of the Idaho States of Boise City, the oldest paper in the Territory. Mr. Wildman is a bright young journalist and a typical specimen of the Western newspaper hustler. He has been here since last November and has made friends of every one with whom he has come in contact at the Capital.

In charge of the gate at the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad crossing at Third and K streets southeast is an old man who once had a narrower escape from death than falls to the lot of most men to tell of. His name is Gabriel Cross. and he served both in the army and navy during the late unpleasantness. While engaged as fireman on board the monitor Catskill before Port Royal, N. C., he fell, while obeying an order of one of the officers, through an open hatchway from the spar deck to the fire-room. In falling his feet caught on one of the steps of a companionway in such a manner that they were doubled up, crushing all the bones into small

He happened to fall fato the pit in which the big crank that drove the shaft descended in the course of its revolution. The upper part of the crank was descending at the time, and in the portion of a second later he would have been crushed to a jelly, had not a messmate, who was standing by, seen his danger and snatched him from the pit. He had a close shave, for the top of the crank tore his clothing from one side of him as he was jerked out. Nearly all his ribs were broken by the fall, and the internal organs were so injured that his recovery was thought impossible.
While he lay hovering between life and death yellow fever broke out in the fleet and he was one of the first to be attacked by it. He recovered, how-ever, and shortly afterward received his discharge. As a result of the injuries to his chest he has almost entirely lost the use of his voice speak in a whisper. Owing to his broken feet unaided locomotion is almost impossible. He receives a pension of $2 a month, and upon this and 95 cents a day he gots for working fourteen hours and a half out of the twenty-four for the railroad company. he supports a wife and family. Not-withstanding his infirmities it would be difficult to find a more cheerful man in a day's walk than old Gabe Cross.

A NOTED DETECTIVE,

Jack Wren. Who Figured in Many Famous Cases, Passes Away, A telegram from Richmond says that 'Jack" Wren died there, after a few days illness, from pneumonia.

John Wren, or, as he was familiarly alled, "Jack," was a detective who learned his business under that veteran Knox, who had no superior or South so far as a thorough knowledge of "crooks" and their ways was concerned. Knox on one occasion disinterred the body of a wo can in Virginia and proved that she had been murdered, and the murderer was appre-

Wren was very strong in the art of ferreting out murder cases, and he was the principal actor in the Cluverious case, in which one of the coolest and most nervy criminals that was ever brought to justice figured. Wren was a fine looking man, being fully six feet in height, with black nair and mustache and a pair of dark, piercing eyes. He always went well dressed, and was polite and gentlemanly in his manners. His friends were numerous, and the business men of Richmond trusted him implicitly and engaged his services whenever they were needed.

IN A PLOURISHING CONDITION Quarterly Session of the Grand Lodge

A. M. Kalstrom, grand chief templar, presided at the quarterly session lishman, who was found in the streets of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, of Alexandria on Friday night suffering at Elks' Hall, on Saturday evening, from an overdose of laudanum and a when he conferred the grand lodge degree upon a large number of new members. In his address he recommended a general increase of membership fees, uniformity in dealing with delinquent members, and a general allitation with the Good Templars' Emergency Asso-ciation, and opposed the frequency of pay entertainments.

The report of the grand secretary showed that 387 had been initiated into the order since the annual session three months ago. The superintendent of juvenile temples reported four in active operation. The report of the commit-tees on public meetings, degislation and deceases showed that the order was vigorously prosecuting temperance work. Fraternal greetings were ordered to be sent to the recently listi-tuted junior grand lodge, and the ribbon badge was adopted as the membership badge for this jurisdiction. An invita-tion to the order to participate in the Lincoln Post, G. A. R., fair was referred to the subordinate lodges.

LAID AT REST.

Funeral Services of the Late Ezra L. Stevens Yesterday,

The funeral services over the remains of the late Ezra L. Stevens, took place from the Congregational Church yesterday afternoon. The church was filled with Sir Knights, Blue Lodge of Masons, Masonic Veteran Association and a large number of the other friends of

Prior to the services in the church there was a brief private service at the home of the departed, 1631 Thirteenth street, which was only attended by the family, some intimate friends and the pallbearers. At Tenth and G streets on panbearers. At feath and G streets on the way to the church the Templar commanderies, drawn up in rank, awaited the remains, headed by the Marine Band. The pallbearers repre-sented the different Masonie bodies, and were Messrs. Myron M. Parker, A. T. Langley, Charles Hancock, John R. Thompson, J. R. Garrison, B. N. Styles, Lames H. Sample and Wayren Olcott. James H. Sample, and Warren Olcott. After the regular services by Rev. Dr. Newman, services were conducted in accordance with the Knights Tem-plar ritual, and the cortege proceeded to Oak Hill Cemetery, where the re-mains were laid in their final resting

GLORIOUS UNCERTAINTY.

Many Saloon-Keepers on the Ragged

Edge Regarding Their Licenses, Considerable dissatisfaction is being expressed among the saloon-keepers who have not yet received their licenses about the delay in taking up the pending cases. It is not so much the failure to pass upon these cases that is complained of as the failure of the Commissioners to definitely name a date when they will be taken up, which has the effect of keeping the applicants in a glorious state of nucertainty regarding their fate. For many days past many of these applicants have lost their time hanging about the District building, in hopes that they would have a chance to be heard on their applications.

The delay in the first instance was considered.

caused by the change in the Engineer Commissionership. Colonel Robert, being new to the District, required time to familiarize himself with the working of our license laws, but it is believed that he is now very well informed on the subject. Many of the liquor-deal-ers think the continued delay argues favorably for their interests, they claiming that it is caused owing to the Commissioners feeling somewhat embar-rassed regarding their powers since the recent legal arguments they listened to on behalf of the Liquor-Dealers' Asso-

EATEN BY BATS.

Terrible Case of Destitution Discovered in Union Street Yesterday,

A- negro woman named Hennie Young was found in a hovel, 345 Union street, yesterday in a destitute condition. Dr. Morgan found that she was not only very sick, but her feet and hands had been cut and eaten in a terrible manner by rats. Knowing that she could not receive proper care where she was, he reported the case to the Third Precinct Station and she was sent to the Freedman's Hospital.

She is about 80 years of age and has, from all accounts, been sick in this cabin for a long time. Her daughter, Mary Waters, with her three children, lived at the same place, but she was compelled to go out to service in order to supply the family with food and could not give the mother much attention. The blame for the neglect of the old woman rests on the shoulders of the worthless son-in-law who does nothing to provide for the family.

Death of Mrs. Hopkins. Mrs. Hopkins widow of Judge A. F. Hopkins, for many years a Justice of the Supreme Court of Alabama, died yesterday morning at the Hillman House in this city. She was the daughter of Hiram Lindsay Opie of Jefferson county Virginia, and was the mother of Mrs. Ayres, widow of Major General Romeyn B. Ayres.

Its First Anniversary.

The Concordia Lutheran Church on Capitol Hill celebrated its first mission Sunday School anniversary yesterday. The exercises were conducted in Germsn. Rev. Dr. Mueller delivered an address, telling of the remarkable progress of the school since its organization and the encouragement it gave for the formation of similar missions in other parts of the city.

Unreliable Witnesses.

"Mrs. McDavitt, you are here for vagrancy," said Judge Miller, "but there are four witnesses here who are not exactly the kind of people that ought to come and testify against you. They are virtually of the same order, and you can go this time, but don't be found in the same company again."

Making an Example of a Boy, A 12-year-old boy named Lewis Snell, was fined $5 by Judge Miller this | he is most drunk. morning for trespassing on the grounds of the Smithsonian Institute. The boy bought a toy gun and was shooting birds in the grounds with it, and the Judge said he proposed to make an ex-

Popular Boute to New York. The h. & O. express train service to Naw York has been established less than a year, but it is already the popular route to Phila-delphia, New York and New England. This is because of the excellence of its equipment and the punctuality of its trains.

An Unknown Man, Shoots Himself and Then Takes Laudanam, The intelligent and well-dressed Engpistol-wound near the left nipple, die l at the Infirmary on Saturday night. When found he was in an unconscious condition, but recovered sufficiently once or twice to talk with the doctor and his attendants.

The man positively declined to give any information that might lead to establishing his identity. It was best, he said, that his name should never be become known, and if he could prevent it, it never would be. Later in the day he said his name would be found on the bandle of the pistol in his pocket. The pistol, a new 22-calibre, with three chambers empty, was found in his inside vest pocket, but the name was not on it. If he inflicted the wound found upon himself he must have afterward deliberately placed the weapon in his pocket and buttoned up both his coat and vest. There were no indications of any violence having been used, and Dr. W. R. Purvis gave his opinion that death re-sulted from the laudanum, which had evidently been administered by his own hands, as an empty bottle labeled laud-anum was found in his pocket.

The man admitted that he had lived in Philadelphia, and it has been inti-mated that his name may be John Thompson Gardner, who has been missing from that city for some time. The remains have been turned over to Un-dertaker Demain, and, unless identified to-day, will be buried in the Potters'

AN ARTIST IN TROUBLE,

His Methods of Painting Georgetown and Providing for His Comfort. Louis Lawler, an artist, had his palette and brushes with him when arraigned in the Police Court for vagrancy to-day. Officer Bloom said that Lawler was given to painting Georgetown red very frequently, and, more than that, was an all-around vagrant.

When they won't provide men with lodgings at the police station Lawler will build a fire at one end of a sewer pipe, block up the other end and sleep these rearrences. there very comfortably. Lawler was formerly a captain in the United States Army and a man of more than average intelligence. Judge Miller gave him three hours in which to leave the city.

A Hollow Square.

From Philadelphia Ingutrer. *
The proclamation of the three tailors of Tooley street, who declared themselves to be the people of England, has been outdone by Mr. George Taylor, a Canadian member of Parliament. All by his own self he has solemnly warned the people of the United States that, in retaliation for the passage of the Alien Labor act, non-resi-dents of Canada who may be dents of Canada who may be found fishing in the St. Lawrence River opposite the county which he represented the county which he correlated to the terms of the fisheries act. The honorable gentleman does not state how he ses to reach them; but he will probably do it as an Irish soldier claimed he captured his prisoners—by forming himself into a hollow square and surrounding them. You of our Nor catch a cold, but, if you do, use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents. Cuts, burns, scalds and the bites of insects cured by Salvation Oil. Only 25 cents.

A Neat Trick,

From the Chicago Tribune A pony glass of whisky and a pony glass of water are placed side by side, both glasses brimming full, and a wager made that the liquids can be made to change glasses without pouring either of them out. If the wager is accepted a thin card is placed over the glass of water, and held tightly on it while it is turned upside down and placed on top of the pony of whisky. The card is then carefully shoved aside until one end of it is a hair's breadth beyond the rims of the glasses, and the whisky will then work itself slowly into the upper glass, the water descending to the lower. Care should be taken that both glasses are full to running over, and the card uld be thin and moved aside very slightly, or the opportunity for capillary attraction, on which the perfect completion of the trick depends will be lost. A Great Cry for More Women A Great Cry for More Women
